A short knitting autobiography

I first picked up yarn and needles at the age of 5, knitting a headband by following instructions in a How-To book that I found in the basement. Knitting and crochet thrilled me, and I have experimented constantly for over 50 years.

I love to travel, and my needlework travels with me everywhere. I also visit needlework shops wherever I travel, and that has been quite an experience.

I have taught 100s of lovely people how to knit, crochet, quilt and tat.

I recently retired from my library job, and have been unsuccessfully training my new cat to ignore my yarn.

My husband of 44 years has cheerfully enabled my fiber fetish. Sometimes I even knit something for him.

Here I am in Egypt at Saqqara.
